

THREE MEN KILLED BY STARK CAR WEST OF CITY

BELIEVED DIED IN WRECK OF TWO TRAINS

Pipe Held Cause of Crash Near Mounds, Ill.
Early Monday

HIT BY LIMITED TRAIN

Train Rolls Against
Other; Number Injured
Not Determined

Aug. 6. — Eight bodies were recovered from the wreck of Illinois Central trains near Mounds, Ill., today, according to officials received at the railroad here shortly before noon.

A more passenger is believed to have been killed.

The dead: A. Brennan, Mattoon, expressman; Mrs. "Bud" Smider, passenger;
Mr. Orange, N. J.; Joseph Zdenek, passenger; 403 Gregory St., West Chicago, N. J.; two unidentified women; three unidentified passengers.

Water Pipe Causes Wreck
Officials said a cast iron pipe, 20 feet long and two inches thick, rolled from a loaded flat car and caused the wreck, striking the southbound train, which went on just as the New Orleans train was passing. The New Orleans train engine and two cars were knocked off the track.

The detailed cars of the New Orleans limited crashed into the side of the cars of the Chickasaw limited, which was standing on the tracks at the spot. Seven of the Chickasaw cars were knocked off the track.

Some passengers were reported to be in the New Orleans limited cars, while more than a score of passengers in the two trains were killed.

Report 29 Seriously Hurt
On the New Orleans limited and 30 seriously injured wreck of two Illinois Central trains today near Mounds, Ill., it was reported.

The 30 were brought to hospitals and more were reported on the way. The exact number of the wreck was unavailable.

When the trains wrecked the telephone and telephone wires along the railroad right-of-way were cut, disrupting communications and making efforts to secure details from scene of the accident impossible.

Gov. Al
Smith returned to the executive manor shortly before 1 o'clock this morning after an absence of nine days.

After disposing of some state business, the governor plans to settle in New York on the final draft of the state constitution. He will be in the state capital on Aug. 22, when he formally accepts the presidency.

During the latter part of the week
the governor expects to confer with Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Maine, and possibly one or two other members from the Middle West.

Mr. N. P. Cook, of Moline, Ill., has been named for a million farmers of the Middle West, who last week announced they would support the Democratic ticket, because of Smith's promise of farm relief, is expected to arrive within the next ten days.

It is understood the governor declined another talk with Peck because of his speech in which he will advocate the farm problem.

In a way rain and electrical storms in the State Guard camp at Perryville led to the executive manor. While crossing the Bear creek bridge with the governor's car struck a machine operated by a man.

Youngstown Thieves
Take Salem Machine

The sport, rooster owned by John Fitzpatrick, Franklin ave., Salem, last night between 8:30
and 9 p. m. from Wood St., Youngstown, Ohio, and party of three attended the Keith-Albee theater. The rooster, Ford sport car, license 479-757 and motor number 14,840,474. The robbery was reported to both Salem and Youngstown police.

Law Dean Succumbs

Columbus, Aug. 6.—Charles R.
Pratt, 55, dean of the Columbia College of Law at the Central University, died here today following an acute heart attack. He was stricken Friday and died yesterday evening.

POLISH FLIERS ESCAPE DEATH; SAFE IN OPORTO

Airmen Leap Into Sea and Swim Until they Are Picked Up by Steamer After Plane
Is Brought Down Due to Mishap

Oporto, Portugal, Aug. 6. — The Polish fliers, Maj. Louis Idzikowski and Casimir Kubala, rested here today preparatory to returning to Paris whence they started out at 12:49 a. m. (New York daylight time) Friday with high hopes of spanning the Atlantic only to be forced to land on the ocean 36 hours later 30 miles south of Cape Finisterre, Spain.

Within less than an hour's flying of land, the fliers were forced down by a break in a fuel tank. In landing, their plane, the "Marzalek Pilsudski," was badly damaged, its wings breaking, but it remained afloat.

Leaped Into Sea, Swam Idzikowski and Kubala leaped into the sea and swam about until picked up by the German steamer, Samos, which sighted the plane almost immediately.

While boarding the Samos, Kubala slipped and fell, breaking his spectacles and injuring his right forearm. He was treated at a hospital here after the Samos had brought both fliers to Leixoes, a little port town near here. The Samos also towed in the remains of the plane.

Return To Paris Tuesday
Tomorrow the aviators will return to Paris. Except for Kubala's slight injuries they were none the worse for their near escape from death.

The fliers were sighted by ships three times on Friday during their flight. The first time they were sighted at 4:30 a. m. (New York daylight time) off France, flying steadily on the projected course which was to have taken them over the Azores route.

Had Feared For Safety
About two and a half hours later
the British steamship, Amakura sighted their plane still further northeast of the Azores, indicating that they were heading back for the European mainland. From then on until their forced landing at 12:45
p. m. (New York daylight time)
Saturday, the plane was unsighted.

Continued absence of reports of their whereabouts had resulted in fears for the safety of the fliers. It is not known whether they intentionally headed back for Europe because of mechanical trouble or lost their direction and decided to return after finding themselves off their course.

Would Have Flown Ocean
It is believed the Polish aviators covered sufficient distance to bring them about the entire way across the Atlantic if they had followed a true course.

Their flight was the second flight in a week to come to grief because of a broken fuel pipe. Like Capt. Frank T. Courtney and his three companions, they were saved from a grim fate by the timely appearance of a steamship.

CHAUTAUQUA IS OPENED TODAY
WITH QUARTET

Excellent Programs Are
Billed; Junior Town
Is For Children

The opening Redpath chautauqua program was held this afternoon with H. D. Hinton, professor of chemistry at Michigan State college,
East Lansing, Mich., in charge.

Hinton is superintendent of the programs here this week.

The four Shumate brothers in a popular concert this afternoon formed the opening afternoon program. They will entertain tonight and there will be a lecture by William Rainey Bennett.

"Junior Town" had its first get-together session at 1 a. m. today with Miss Ruth Zimmerman of Ohio university, in charge. The Junior Town meeting will be held each morning of the week at 9.

Smith Damron will be featured in the second day of program tomorrow afternoon. His subject is "The Potter and the Clay." Damron will trace the story of a piece of small clay to its appearance on a breakfast table as a part of a fancy china set.

One of the leading bits of entertainment scheduled for the week is billed for Tuesday night. This will be the North Carolina mountain drama, "Sun Up."

TWO MEN HURT, ANOTHER JAILED IN BRAWL HERE

L. A. Dahlke Has 12 Knife
And Ice-Pick Wounds
In Back, Arm Pits

TRIO STAGE FIGHT IN FRANKLIN HOME

Jack Houts, Peacemaker, Hit On Head; Third Is Held For Assault

Two men are in a serious condition today, one suffering from knife and ice-pick wounds that may have punctured his lungs, while the second is suffering from a possible fractured skull, and a third man is in city jail, held on a charge of assault with intent to wound, following a general fight at 93 Franklin ave., Sunday night.

L. A. Dahlke, 288 Lincoln ave., is suffering from 12 knife and ice-pick stabs in the back and arm pits which police say were received at the hands of Aurel Carkula, at whose house the melee was staged.

Charged Against All Three Jack Houts, also of this city, is in a serious condition as the result of being struck on the head by a brick thrown at him by Carkula according to police.

Charges of intoxication were preferred against Dahlke and Houts, and the charge of assault with intent to wound preferred against Carkula, who received no serious injury and was given medical attention in the jail.

Police were called to the Carkula house about 7:30 last night by neighbors who stated that a general drunken brawl was being staged.
Patrolmen Wilbur Hiddleston and Jesse Gray answered the calls and made the arrests.

Houts Was Peacemaker
The fight started, police say, on the second floor of the house, where Carkula attacked Dahlke, objecting to his presence in his home, using as weapons a paring-knife and later an ice-pick. Houts jumped in and attempted to enact the role of peacemaker and tried to stop the fight, but was struck on the forehead by a whole brick thrown at him by Carkula, and all three rolled down the stairs to the first floor.

The fight continued for 15 minutes until police arrived. The men, police say, were intoxicated.

They were taken to jail where they were given preliminary treatment for their wounds and the two later were taken to City hospital.

Both Houts and Dahlke were later removed to their rooms, where it is said their condition is serious.

Mayor Refuses To Act On Complaint

Martins Ferry Has Hottest Sunday But
No Cooling Drinks

Martins Ferry, Aug. 6.—Yesterday, the hottest Sunday of the year, found Martins Ferry without cool drinks and ice cream as the result of partial enforcement of blue laws which closed confectioneries, shoe shine stands and groceries.

Only news stands, drug stores and restaurants were permitted to be open—and allowed to sell papers, drugs and food only.

Mayor Howard Duff decreed that the blue laws were to be enforced and apparently succeeded in his ultimatum.

The drive was first directed at Sunday theater openings, with more than a score of arrests on the last two Sundays.

Theater owners threatened to have every other business opened on Sunday closed unless they were allowed to operate, with the result that the lid was clamped on here.

COPS SEEKING HELEN MORGAN

Night Club Hostess Does Not Appear In Court
For Hearing Today

New York, Aug. 6.—Warrants for the arrest of Helen Morgan, star of the musical comedy "Show Boat," ten employees of her night club, Nils T. Grantlund, radio announcer and major domo at the club frivolity, were issued today from the federal court bench by Judge Isaac M.
Meekins of North Carolina, when the defendants failed to appear among 102 alleged liquor law violators.

Texas Guinan, night club hostess, pleaded not guilty when her name was called. Her case was placed on the calendar for trial but no date was set. Bail of $1,000 was continued.

Union Barber Shop Wrecked By Blast

Chicago, Aug. 6.—A bomb was exploded today in front of a south side barber shop, wrecking the entrance to the building and shattering windows within a radius of 100 yards.

Damage was estimated at $5,000.
Police were puzzled over a motive for the blast in view of the fact that the shop is 100 per cent unionized.

Eagles In Session

Columbus, Aug. 6.—Formal opening of the 13th annual national convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will be held here tonight with several thousand delegates and members in attendance. The Ohio State Aerie and Eagles opened its convention this morning.

Take French Leave

Mansfield, O., Aug. 6.—Search was on here today for two escaped prisoners from the Ohio Reformatory.

They are Frank Meyers, 32, serving one to 20 years on a check charge from Warren; and Lloyd Clark, 27, serving one to three years on a failure to provide charge, from Chillicothe.

AUTO DRIVEN IN FRONT OF INTERURBAN

Trio's Machine Turns In Drive Two Miles
West of Salem, And Is Demolished;
Men Hurled Clear of Wreckage

REASON FOR TURN UNDETERMINED

Andrew Wagner, Salem, Is Killed Instantly;
Simon Gunesch, Salem, And Frank Tisch-
boll, Alliance, Die Few Minutes Later

Three men were killed when the automobile in which they were driving was struck by a Stark Electric interurban at a crossing on the Salem-Alliance rd., two miles west of Salem, near stop 55, at 1:10 p. m., Sunday.

The dead are:
Andrew Wagner, 55, of Franklin ave., killed instantly.
Simon Gunesch, 59, of 35 W. Pershing ave., died enroute to City hospital.
Frank Tischboll, 50, Alliance, died two minutes after reaching hospital.

Turned In Without Stopping
The three men were driving east towards Salem and suddenly turned into the drive leading to the silver fox farms, near stop 55, without stopping.

The interurban car, witnesses say, could be seen plainly as there was nothing to obstruct the driver's view down the tracks.

G. C. Lewis, motorman of the car, stated that he did not see the machine until the crash.

MARKS FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

Last Friday Calvin Coolidge began his sixth year as president of the United States. The close of his fifth year was spent quietly fishing in the Brule river near his Cedar Lodge vacation home. That Mr. Coolidge is happy in the thought that he has but seven more months to spend at the exacting job of chief executive of the nation may be safely surmised.

It is said by those in close daily contact with Mr. Coolidge at Cedar Lodge that his decision not to be again a candidate for president, and the nomination of Mr. Hoover, have lifted years from the president's shoulders, both in his personal actions and appearance.

Also, it is certain that the month and a half on the Brule river thus far has worked wonders physically for the president. When he arrived on June 15 he seemed underweight. His complexion was not ruddy, and he seemed tired almost to the point of exhaustion. Six weeks of constant fishing and outdoor life obviously have put him back on his feet, so to speak. He again tips the scales at his usual 158-160 weight, the sun and wind have tanned his face and the lines of fatigue have almost disappeared.

One not familiar with the exacting tasks of the chief executive cannot understand how it is possible for a man to age so rapidly as the presidents of the United States age. But their is a most thankless job, a tremendous job, and one which bears them down and down until it really is remarkable they stand the pressure as well as they do. The country at large will congratulate Mr. Coolidge upon the regaining of his weight and health at the Brule camp.

THEY WILL NOT HEED

In Chicago a short time ago a young woman accepted a motorcar ride with a stranger. There was a wreck and the girl met her death. The car had been stolen.

In Akron a fortnight ago a young woman was seriously injured when the car in which she was riding with a total stranger was driven into the side of a trolley car.

This practice of girls and young women picking up with every Tom, Dick or Harry who flirts with them from under the steering pole of an automobile is growing throughout the country, and with no good results for anyone concerned.

The Indianapolis News, taking cognizance of the condition in its home city, reads a lecture to the girls for indulging in this practice. The fate of the Chicago girl or her Akron sister may await any girl who picks up with a stranger. If not a fate, perhaps even a worse one.

Parental restraint nowadays seems to have let down amazingly, or else the new-found freedom of womanhood has gone to the heads of the younger generation to such an extent that the modern girl believes herself capable of coping with any situation, no matter how trying the circumstances. However, the young people, who have assumed this responsibility must learn to realize the liabilities which go with independence.

What Others Say

TEACHING BY RADIO

The entire country will watch with interest the experiment to be made in Pittsburgh by which the regular methods of public school instruction are to be amplified by the use of radio broadcasting. Under the plan virtually every public school in Pittsburgh will be equipped with receiving sets, and at stated times selected subjects will be broadcast from a station in the building of the board of education, all pupils of certain grades being reached at the same time. At the same time persons of Pittsburgh, generally, may "attend class" by tuning in their home sets. But it is not believed that this is a plan for the extension of public instruction to the homes so much as it is to provide a convenience for parents of the pupils, to know what they are being taught and how.

Whether such a plan will contribute to the knowledge of the pupils in the grades that will be reached depends probably upon the subjects to be thus taught and upon the atmosphere surrounding the radio hours at the schools. Extended by proper classroom direction and interpretation such a system may avoid one of the difficulties of the modern system of mass education with its absence of the personal element between teacher and pupil and it may not. If the human touch can be added and if the Pittsburgh plan gets beyond the experimental stage and shows values, it might be the opening gun or a radical change in the instruction of public school classes. It no doubt has possibilities.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

DANGER OF SUNBURN

The badge of the vacationist is his sunburn and tan. To be browned to a crisp relieves the victim of the necessity of telling his friends that he is a man of substance, financially able to spend two weeks or so at the beach, and offers an outlet for the not too deeply buried masculine instinct to appear as a be-man of the great outdoors. A healthy tan offsets spindly legs, sunken chest and mosquito muscles. But a very real danger lies in overdoing the sunburn, according to a solemn warning from the public health service at Washington. Severe illness and, infrequently, death follows extensive burns over large areas of the body. Such burns are as serious as burns from fire. The therapeutic value of gradual exposure to the sun's rays is admitted, but caution against an overdose is strongly advised.

The public health service offers the following remedy, to be applied as quickly as possible in severe cases of sunburn: Take half a pint of hot water and stir into it a level teaspoonful of boric acid powder; then add 20 drops of boric acid and shake well. Dab, not rub on the inflamed skin with a piece of cotton or spray with an atomizer. Repeat every half hour if necessary. Get plenty of sun, but avoid burns, is the summary of the warning.—Columbus Dispatch.

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.,
United States Senator from New York, Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

Everybody knows that the prominence of the front of the neck is called "Adam's Apple." I suppose this dates back to the time when the sinful act of the father of mankind resulted in his hasty swallowing of too large a morsel of the forbidden fruit. Perhaps the apple stuck in his throat and produced the prominence which has been given Adam's name since earliest days.

Closely associated with this prominence is the thyroid gland, the largest of the "ductless glands." We do not know exactly what the ductless glands are for, but they produce secretions which appear to have vital effects upon the body and its various organs.

The ideal condition is to have these glands function just enough to have each one supply the needed quantity of secretion. If they furnish too much there may be over-activity of the heart and over-stimulation of the nervous system. If they do not supply the needed quantity, the heart action may be lowered and the nervous system become sluggish.

More and more we are coming to believe that the ductless glands are very important organs. The way they operate has much to do with the well-being and happiness of the individual.

Some of these glands have an effect upon the actual growth and development of the body. We go to the circus to see the giant or to see the dwarf. Both are persons who have abnormal ductless glands. In one case there has been such stimulation of growth that a giant has been produced. In the other case there has been a failure of the stimulating substance, the cells of the body have not developed as they should, instead of having normal growth the person thus affected remained small and dwarfed.

It may well be that the lack of proper operation of the ductless glands makes for stupidity and dullness of intellect. On the contrary, an unusual supply of the secretion may produce stimulation of the brain and nervous system and unusual alertness of mind.

One of the mysteries of the scientific world is hidden in this field. When medical men succeed in discovering the exact purpose of the ductless glands and how to control their activities, there will be a greater mastery of life and its functions than has ever before been achieved.

It is an interesting thing that each generation makes progress in the understanding of the laws of nature. The ductless glands offer the most fruitful field for present day scientific investigation. Sufficient progress has been made to teach us that by the use of certain serums and extracts made from glandular tissue and substance, some serious diseases may be controlled or benefited.

I desire to say about these gland preparations that they should not be employed without the advice of a physician. In some instances they produce violent reactions and are so powerful anyway that it is necessary to use them with caution and under skilled direction.

Answers to Health Queries
Miss L. Q.—What causes beads of perspiration on the eyelids and eyebrows? This condition is present in any kind of weather.

A.—This is probably due to a nervous condition—build up the general health so that the nervous system will benefit. Excessive perspiration is due to nerve stimulation.

K. K. Q.—How often should a person wash the hair?

2.—I have been advised to avoid all sweets—would a little ice cream or orange ice be harmful?

A.—About once every two weeks or ten days should be sufficient, unless the scalp is unusually oily.

2.—Follow your doctor's instructions. He is familiar with your condition and would therefore be the one to advise you.

Vienna Star Hurt On Way to Theater For Opening Night

Vienna, Aug. 6.—Most theaters have closed down for the annual vacation. The only novelty of any importance promised for the summer is "The Lady in White," a new Austrian comedy, at the Reinhardt theater.

But the comedy turned into a real tragedy when the new prima-donna of Reinhardt, Frau Charlotte Ander was run over by an automobile on her way to the theater shortly before the premiere.

The young, beautiful and talented actress, who was long on her way to play a leading part on one of the most famous stages of the German theater, was crushed by fate in the very moment she was to realize her ambition.

She suffered very serious injuries. Her skull was broken, she will probably never be able to return to the stage. "The Lady in White" could not make her appearance at the Reinhardt.

MT. SCOTT GOAL OF AMERICANS IN JASPER PARK

Jasper Park, Alberta, Aug. 6.—Mount Scott, 10,826 feet, which took its name from the Scott of Antarctic fame, and is one of the most lofty peaks on the continental divide between Athabasca pass and Fortress lake, has been scaled for the first time.

Its American conquerors, Dr. J. Monroe Thorington, of Philadelphia, author of "The Glittering Mountains of Canada," Dr. Max Strumia, member of the American and Italian alpine clubs, also of Philadelphia, William Hainsworth, of New Haven Conn., and Julian Hillhouse, of Newton, Conn., have just returned by pack trail from their camp at the head of the Athabasca river.

With them has come the first word of their successful ascent.

After leaving Jasper Park Lodge, somewhat more than two weeks ago, the climbers established a high camp in an ice basin at an altitude of 8,500 feet. From here they approached the top of Scott.

The ascent was made twice, the mountain being divided into two peaks, and the alpinists gaining the top of the southern eminence found it overshadowed by that of the north. Accordingly, they had to retrace their steps and go through the perils and rigors of a further ascent. Climbing conditions were good, but trail travel, because of high water, presented some difficulties.

Mount Ermaninger, 10,080 feet and Mount Evans, 10,460 feet, were also conquered by the party. Mount Evans is claimed as another first ascent.

Before returning eastward the climbers are engaging in more alpine work in the Maligne and Columbia valleys.

Johns Hopkins Has Completed Library

Baltimore, Aug. 6.—The William H. Welch Medical Library of the Johns Hopkins Medical School, which will house one of the greatest collections of works of medical knowledge in the world, Hopkins scientists said, is nearing completion.

Although the structure probably will be completed in the fall its formal dedication and acceptance by the medical school may not take place until next April.

The library will be used in connection with the recently established history of medicine department. Dr. William H. Welch, former director of the School of Hygiene and Public Health, and a noted medical educator, will be in charge. He will be assisted by a librarian and a staff of office workers.

Dr. Welch is now in Europe gathering material for the library.

East Rochester Will Hold Homecoming

The annual homecoming at East Rochester will be observed next Saturday. A program of sports has been arranged for the morning, and the afternoon program will be opened by Rev. J. T. Gardner of East Rochester.

Thurman "Dusty" Miller of New Wilmington will be the principal speaker during the afternoon.

During the morning and afternoon music will be furnished by the boys band of New Philadelphia, and in the evening by the American Legion drum corps of Carrollton. C. O. Bell of Alliance will pilot an airplane over the grounds during the day. A basket dinner will feature the noon hour.

Chicago Leads In Taxes On Office Buildings In Nation

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Chicago leads the cities of America in the amount of taxes that are paid by office buildings in proportion to their rental income, according to the Experience Exchange report of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers. The report compiled yearly by the accounting and exchange committee of the association includes buildings in 55 of the major cities of the United States. The average taxes paid by all buildings contributing to the report is 15.9 cents out of every dollar received in rent from office building tenants.

Chicago building owners, however, pay out 19.8 cents of every dollar collected.

The other cities above the average are Cleveland, Detroit, Buffalo and Spokane, Wash.

The report reveals the constantly upward trend of taxes—the one item that is beyond the control of the building manager. Following the taxes in 1924 amounted to 33.2 cents per square foot of rentable floor area. In 1925 the taxes increased to 33.8 cents per square foot. The next year, they advanced to 35.2 cents per square foot and in 1927 the taxes amounted to 35.9 cents per square foot. Meanwhile operating expenses remained practically stationary.

The report is one of the most elaborate prepared by the association and covers the detailed expenses of individual buildings in the various cities. Although actual experience figures are given for each building, there are no identifying marks of the buildings contributing to the report. There is sufficient detail given, however, to enable building managers to make direct comparisons between their own operating expenses and those of the unidentified buildings. One of the striking tabulations is the operating ratio of old and new buildings and the intermediate classifications. This tabulation reveals the fact that it costs about twenty per cent more to operate an old building than a new building of corresponding proportions.

The cost of alterations, remodeling, etc. cetera in the oldest buildings is fifty per cent higher than in the new buildings. The old buildings, however, due largely to their location at the strategic positions in business centers derive a much higher income from the rental of store space.

ers and managers are able to make comparative analysis of their own performance by means of the report. It is likewise invaluable to capitalists, promoters and investment houses contemplating new projects inasmuch as the highly competitive character of the office building field and the high cost of building demand the most careful and conservative scrutiny of the prospects of any contemplated building."

Brennan-Meier
Miss Charlotte Hancock Brennan, of Wilkesburg, Pa., and Carl E. Meier, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Meier, Salem, were united in marriage at 7:30 p. m. Saturday at the Second Presbyterian church, Wilkesburg, by the pastor of the church.

Mr. Stanley, of Damascus, was the best man, and William Meier, of Salem, brother of the groom, was one of the ushers.

Following the wedding there was a reception for Mr. and Mrs. Meier at the Edgewood club.

Mr. Meier is a graduate of Damascus High school and Carnegie Tech, and is well known in this vicinity and Damascus. He is an electrical engineer.

Mr. and Mrs. Meier will make their home with the bride's parents. Salem guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. George Meier, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Krauss, and daughter, Miss Martha Krauss, and Miss Hermina Krauss.

Godward Reunion
Among the relatives who attended the annual reunion of the Godward family held Saturday at Yellow Creek park, Struthers, were:

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Rea and children, Salem; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Coy, of Columbiana; Mrs. P. J. Sanford, of Minnesota; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Coy, Canfield, and Frank Godward and daughter, Mrs. Edna Scott and her daughter, Helen, of Los Angeles, Calif.

The officers are: President, James Godward; vice president, Mr. Brownlee; secretary, Irene Bailey; treasurer, John Seifert.

Next year the reunion will be held on the first Saturday in August at the home of William Slagle, Middletown.

Mather Reunion
For their annual reunion relatives of the Mather family gathered Saturday at the home of Bert Mather, south of Alliance. About 75 were in the company.

The officers are: President, Thomas Davis, Salem; vice-president, Simon Mather, Alliance; secretary-treasurer, Rachel Cattell, Belmont.

The next reunion will be on the first Saturday in August, 1929, at Silver park, Alliance.

Mr. and Mrs. Higby, of West Branch, Ia., who were at the reunion, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Mather, this city.

Stratton Reunion
Descendants of James and Louisa Stratton held a reunion Sunday at Lake Placid, North Georgetown, with 32 relatives in attendance, among them Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dales and family, of Chagrin Falls.

Officers elected are: President, A. S. Bonnell; secretary-treasurer, Miss Eleanor Stratton; historian, Mrs. Ross Hinchcliffe.

A letter was read from William Stanley, of Pasadena, Calif. The 1929 reunion will be held the first Sunday in August.

McConner Reunion
On Sunday the McConner family held its annual reunion at Lake park. Relatives interested in the event came from Salem and vicinity, Chicago, Toronto, Cleveland and Mansfield.

Officers to serve the ensuing year are: President, Charles Baker; vice president, Frank McConner; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Edwin Smith; historian, Mrs. Sarah Fitzpatrick.

The 1929 reunion will be on the last Sunday in July, the place to be selected later.

Baker Reunion
The annual reunion of the Baker family was held Saturday at Centennial park with about 90 relatives in attendance. They came from Lisbon, Youngstown, Salem and Columbiana.

W. H. Baker, this city, is president of the reunion, and Mrs. Walton, of Salem, is secretary.

The reunion next year will be at the same place about the first of August.

Maccabee Dance
Guests from Alliance, Sebring, Canfield, Youngstown, Greenford and Winona attended the Maccabee dance Saturday evening at the hall, Main st.

Lodge's orchestra played the dance program. Prizes were given and the grand prize went to Jack Gougher, of Youngstown. Lunch was served. The next dance will be in one week.

Wilms Reunion
Relatives from Cleveland were here for the annual reunion of the Wilms family held Sunday at Centennial park.

The day was spent socially and there was a picnic dinner. Next year the reunion will be at the same place on the first Sunday in August.

chase had stopped suddenly in the middle of the road to view the spot of the accident where three Salem men were killed Sunday afternoon and another machine, coming behind the automobile which stopped, was forced to drive over to the left of the road in order to keep from running into the rear of the first machine.

The Shaffer car was moving west, and crashed headon with the other machine, which was directly in its path.

Machines owned and driven by A. C. Holshoff, Sandvally and Ralph Crouch, Salem, figured in an automobile accident at the corner of Howard and Roosevelt Sunday night. No one was injured.

Three women were injured in a crash at Leona's crossing, above Eagleton's glens, it was reported today.

Three Killed at Ravenna
Ravenna, Aug. 6.—Three persons are dead and a fourth is reported in a critical condition at a hospital here today as the result of a grade crossing crash yesterday.

The dead are: Mrs. A. A. Stout, 60, of Magadore, near Akron, and her granddaughters, Geraldine Stout, 7, and Marjorie Stout, 14. A. A. Stout, 62, driver of the automobile and grandfather of the two children is in a hospital.

The tragedy occurred at a crossing north of here. The party had been visiting with another sister of the two little girls at a camp.

Mr. Stout, who was driving the machine, said he became aware of the approach of the train as he neared the crossing and attempted to put the car in reverse. Accustomed to an automobile of a different gear shift, he drove it forward instead, and directly into the path of the locomotive.

Mrs. Stout and the two children were killed instantly, their bodies thrown to different places near the tracks. The parents of the two little girls are motoring in Michigan. They were reached last night and informed of the tragedy.

Birthday Contest

Girl Will Christen First Plane Built In Alliance

Alliance, Aug. 6.—Another chapter in the aerial romance linking a former British war bird and the sister of the man who designed the plane in which he hoped to hop the Pacific, will be written here Aug. 11, when the first Alliance-built plane is christened.

Miss Wanda Hess, Detroit, sister of Aubrey and Adrian Hess, designers and builders of the plane will shatter a bottle across the propeller of the Alliance "Arjo" initial product of the Alliance Aircraft Corporation.

An instant later the motor will roar and the airplane with Capt. Frederick A. Giles, former British ace, at the controls, will make its first public flight. The ceremonies will feature an air circus sponsored by the American Legion.

Miss Hess and Capt. Giles are engaged to be married. They became acquainted at the Hess factory at Wyandotte, Mich., during the building of the plane in which Capt. Giles made his ill-fated hop into the Pacific. In honor of his fiancée, Giles will have the plane christened "The Wanda." Capt. Giles is chief test pilot of the Alliance aircraft concern.

further speaking engagements. Under present plans he probably will speak in Boston, Chicago and either Detroit or a city in the border states. He will make his most important speech in New York City at the peak of the campaign. This will conclude his personal plan for campaigning, except for speaking over the radio from Washington, including a windup speech on the last night of the campaign.

Sees Davis Today
"I do not intend to make more than three or four speeches after getting back to Washington," he told his friends. "I think I will be able to put the issues before the people in just a few speeches."

The nominee was to see Ernest I. Lewis, member of the interstate commerce commission, and Dwight Davis, secretary of war, during the day. His conference with Lewis will carry some significance as Hoover is seeking means of reducing transportation costs for farmers. He has a belief that improved marketing conditions will reduce transportation costs.

Hoover has under consideration a trip to Yosemite valley in eastern California. He may leave here tomorrow afternoon, motor up to a hotel in Tuolumne Meadows, near Yosemite, and spend Wednesday viewing the natural wonders there. He will return Thursday if he makes the trip.

Dug Into Wreckage
"We started digging into the cars to take out the injured and dead. The screams of men and women injured could be heard on all sides, and we worked frantically."

"Before the wrecker came, we had taken a few of the dead out of the wreckage. There were a number of injured that we had pulled out of the wreckage, waiting to be taken to hospitals. These injured were put on the relief trains that came from Cairo and brought here."

"Those of us who were not injured, but merely badly shaken up, were brought here to be transferred to other trains."

"I believe there are several more dead under the cars, but it will be impossible to tell until the wreckers can lift them off the track."

LOANS up to $500

Another objection to companionate marriage is that the in-laws must wait such a long time to borrow money. Unless, of course, they prefer to deal with a large financial concern where money is always available and where friends, individual service can be expected without feeling that it's a special favor.

But whether you're an in-law or just an ordinary uncle, you may need a small loan sometime for immediate funds and usually want to borrow from a reliable firm that makes a business of loaning.

CLUBWOMAN IN LOS ANGELES IS SLAIN BY FIEND

Young Butcher Denies He Killed Her But Admits "Terrible Beating"

ASSERTS HE LOVED MEMBER OF SOCIETY

Says Victim Invited Him To Breakfast; Body Found by Husband

Los Angeles, Aug. 6.—Leo P. Kelly, 29, employed in a local meat market, was under arrest today in connection with the fiendish slaying of Mrs. Myrtle L. Mellus, prominent Los Angeles society and clubwoman.

The victim's nude body was found in her palatial South Rimpau blvd. home late yesterday by her husband, Frank Mellus, wealthy business man, upon his return home from a fishing trip.

Captured In Clothes Closet
Less than an hour after Mrs. Mellus' body was found, Kelly, the suspected killer, was captured in a clothes closet in the Mellus home. He is being held at Wilshire police station under heavy guard as a precaution against mob violence.

Mellus, who is vice-president of a large sporting goods company and famous as a trapshooting champion, discovered the body of his wife sprawled across a bed in an upstairs sleeping room. The body was bruised and battered. Portions of it had been mutilated in the fiendish attack.

Admits Staying All Day
Kelly, though his clothing was stained with blood, refused to admit the crime. To questioning detectives, however, the accused man said he had spent the day at the Mellus home and had given Mrs. Mellus a "terrible beating."

Then detectives said, Kelly attempted to bargain with them. "I loved that woman," he was quoted as saying. "It was an affair of five years' standing. But don't let the public know I loved her. If you will make it look like a robbery and that I killed her during the robbery—I'll confess to the slaying."

Invited Him For Breakfast
Kelly told the officers he had telephoned Mrs. Mellus Saturday and that she had told him her husband was going fishing "in the morning." He said she invited him over for Sunday breakfast.

Kelly said he arrived at the Mellus home about 8 a. m., after the husband had left.

"I had several drinks after breakfast," he said. "And then I quarreled with her for drinking. I loved her and didn't want her to drink. We had a fight and I gave her a terrible beating. But I did not kill her."

Then Fell Asleep
"I fell asleep, waking up about 3:30 in the afternoon. I know I didn't kill her because she was still warm when I left her."

Kelly professed to know none of the details of the terrific death scene which must have extended over several hours in the Mellus home.

Claims He Is Stranger
"I can't believe that Myrtle ever knew this man before," she said. "This must have been the work of a fiend. I cannot imagine Myrtle having any friend her husband did not know about."

"Myrtle was in love with Frank. She would not have done anything to deceive him. This murderer must have gained entrance by some subterfuge, and then struck her down as soon as he could shut the door. She could not have known him. She was too lovely a woman."

COURTNEY DUE IN PORT TODAY

New York, Aug. 6.—Capt. Frank T. Courtney and his three flying companions, who were picked up in mid-ocean when their trans-Atlantic plane landed on the sea in flames, will arrive in New York this afternoon on the liner, Minnewaska.

Capt. Frank H. Claret, master of the Minnewaska, radioed that the would arrive at quarantine today at 3:30 p. m. daylight savings time.

Capt. Courtney and his men will be taken from the ship by the mayor's welcoming committee.

Grover Whalen, chairman of the committee will go down the bay on the municipal tug, Macom. An official reception at City Hall will be held.

County K. of P. Picnic
Leigh Whitney, of Salem, won the race for members who had been in the order 25 years, at the county picnic of Knights of Pythias held Saturday afternoon and evening at Kelley's park, near Leetonia.

A baseball game between teams from the Salem and Lisbon lodges was a feature of the sports program and it resulted in a victory for the Lisbon team. The score was 20-17.

Salem children who won in the races were Lawrence Kearcher, Howard Kerr (2) and May Kearcher.

There was a picnic supper and the pleasures afforded by this resort interested some in the company.

The district picnic of the Knights of Pythias will be held Saturday, Aug. 18, at Warren.

Ancient Bible
At a joint meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary societies of the Methodist churches in Salem and Damascus, held last week at the home of Mrs. Mary Carr Curtis, Damascus rd., the scripture lesson was read from a Bible, which is over 200 years old.

This Bible was given to Job Carr of Newport, R. I., in 1715, grandson of Caleb Carr, governor of Rhode Island in 1695.

The Bible was sold with some other books and bought by some Quakers who sent it to Isaac Carr, of Paducah, Ky. It is now owned by John Carr of Pittsburgh, a brother of Mrs. Curtis.

Ritchie Accuses Youths
Paul Harrington and James Fogg, Salem youths, were arrested Sunday afternoon by Constable Earl Ritchie on charges of interfering with an officer while on duty. "THE ACTRESS"

Perhaps the most true to life story that can be told on the screen is the story of the woman who tries to change her station in life, only to find that she can be happy only in her own sphere.

That is the story of "The Actress," Norma Shearer's production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, in which the star plays the part of Rose Trelawney, an actress at the Wells theater in London. The picture opens tonight at the State.

Through the breakdown of a carriage in which the company are going on a picnic, Rose meets Arthur Gower, an English aristocrat, falls in love with him and eventually goes to live at his home.

But here is the point which distinguishes drama from the familiar and sentimental love story of Cinderella. The little actress finds that the home of the aristocrat is too cold and gloomy to bring her happiness and that she can only be happy in the realm of the stage.

The problem resulting is solved by Norma Shearer in a manner which, while proving satisfactory to all, is at the same time different from the conventional ending and makes one of the most entertaining photoplays of the year.

Ralph Forbes does excellent work as the leading man, Owen Moore is perfect as the penniless playwright, while O. P. Heggie does as marvelously as Sir William Gower as he did in the same part on the stage in "Trelawney of the Wells," from which "The Actress" is adapted. The remainder of the cast display amazing character delineation.

"RAMONA"

Dolores Del Rio in "Ramona" opens a four night's stay at the Grand tonight.

Ramona is a screen triumph; in it is wrapped the story of a great love, played by great players. Ramona is Miss Del Rio; the rich Spanish gentleman, Don Felipe, is Roland Drew, and Alessandro, the fiery Indian leader is Warner Baxter.

Don Felipe is living with a Spanish widow and falls in love with her son. Later she is fascinated by an Indian, Alessandro, whom she marries. A baby comes into their lives, and they are happy until a band of renegades break into their camp. Alessandro is shot down before her eyes and young Ramona dies while the mother lies for 10 days unconscious.

Don Felipe her boyhood sweetheart finds her suffering from the loss of her memory and the manner in which he works to restore her mind and win her love is the main plot of the story.

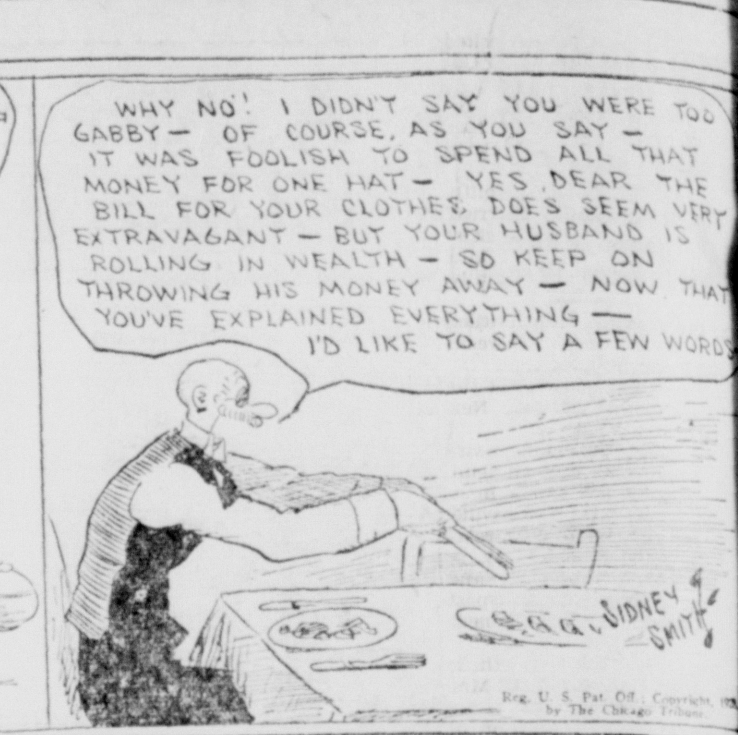

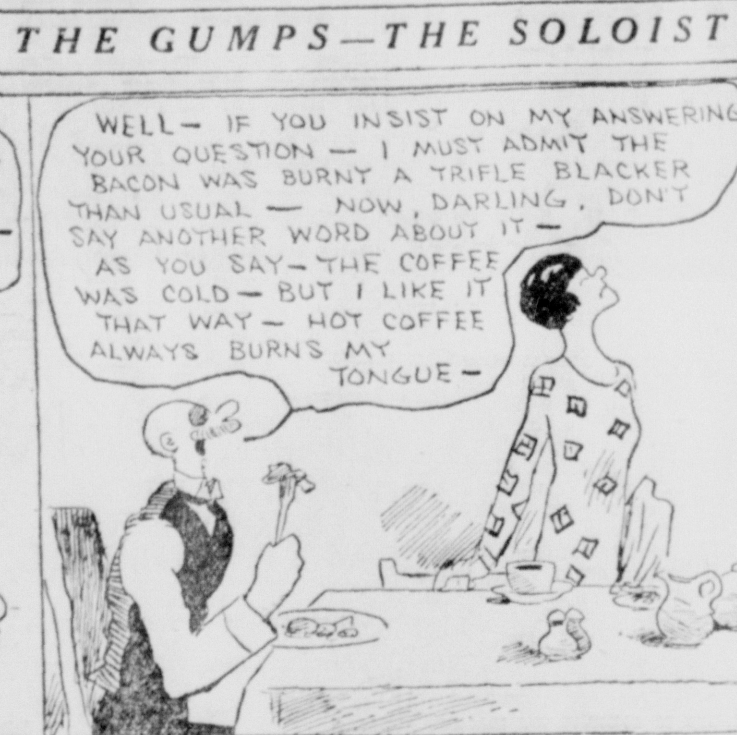

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton

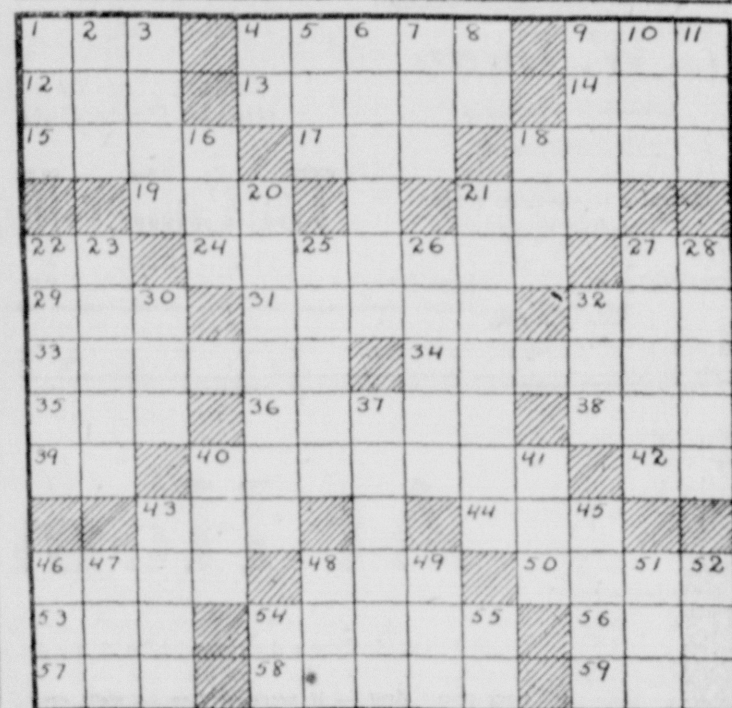

An Appetizing Vegetable Dinner for August

Vegetable dinners are especially popular for warm weather. Starting with a vegetable soup, hot or cold, the dinner course, salad and fruit dessert should be carefully planned so that the acids will not cause indigestion. Some vegetables create a certain amount of gas during digestion, beans, turnips, cooked cabbage, uncooked onions, celery and radishes being among them. If jelly tomato soup is used, do not repeat the tomatoes in the salad. Use very little salt in cooking the vegetables. Wash all vegetables and salads before using.

soup if chosen of tomato.

For the escalloped beans, shell and boil the limas in the usual way until tender, then drain. Butter a baking dish and put in a layer of beans, dust with a fine dry crumbs, pepper, salt and a little sugar, a little grated American dairy cheese, dot with a little butter and then add another layer of beans. Proceed until the beans are all used making the crumbs, seasoning, cheese and butter the top layer. Turn over a very small cupful of cream with an egg beaten in it, put in the oven and bake for half an hour, browning the top delicately. This dish takes the place of the meat.

Boil two eggs hard, chill, shell, halve, remove the yolks to a small bowl and mash them, adding a little red pepper, salt, a saltspoonful of paprika, a half teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, a tablespoonful of vinegar; then add enough mayonnaise to make a rather thin dressing. Chop the egg whites fine and add with three olives chopped fine. Garnish with strips of pimentos.

For the fruit shell, make a good short piecrust and bake it over the bottom of a shallow pan that has been well greased. When done slip it off and set to cool. Meantime, wash, hull, halve and sugar well, a large box of strawberries. When ready to serve fill the shell with the fruit and heap with whipped cream. Raspberries may be used or ripe peaches cut fine. A blackberry or a blueberry pie may be substituted if liked.

As August is corn season why not try a green corn pie by way of a novelty? Cut from the ears enough fresh corn to make two and a half cupfuls and scrape the milk from the cobs with the back of the knife. Add a cupful of milk, salt,

Washing, Drying and Mending Gloves

Wash gloves of doekskin, chamol, and so-called fabric gloves are all popular. They wash and wear well, chamol the best.

Doekskin and chamol gloves should be washed in luke warm suds on the hands, then between the hands rubbing the most soiled spots well. Rinse through two clear waters, roll in a crash towel wringing several times in fresh folds, then slip them over the open-work wire glove frames and hang out to dry in the sun if possible. When almost entirely dry take them from the frames and slip them on the hands working them well over the fingers, pull them off, blow in each to puff them then lay on a dry towel in the air to finish drying. When buying chamol gloves held them up to the light and make sure that there are no very thin or marred spots in them, and select those that are soft and lightweight. It is more difficult to discover the blemishes in the doekskin, a good make must here be the guarantee.

For the white glove gloves try the pepper, a scant half cupful of sugar, a half cupful of heavy cream, three eggs, the yolks beaten separately, the whites beaten stiff and folded in last. Have ready a pie plate lined with good short crust, turn in the corn mixture and add the top crust. Bake until the crust is brown, 35 to 40 minutes, depending upon the oven heat. Serve hot dusted with powdered sugar.

rubber glove sponges, or a crust of soft fresh bread. These will often clean them the first or second time if not too badly soiled. After that they will have to be washed in gasoline and dried in the air or sent to a cleaners. These gloves may be repaired by cutting patches from an old glove, or a little from the long wrists. Suede gloves may be cared for in the same way.

Fabric gloves should be washed in warm but not hot water and borax soap. This takes out the dirt better than the white soap, also they may be rubbed lightly on the little hand wash mitt. Rinse them well and dry in the towel, then slip on the frames and hang them in the air.

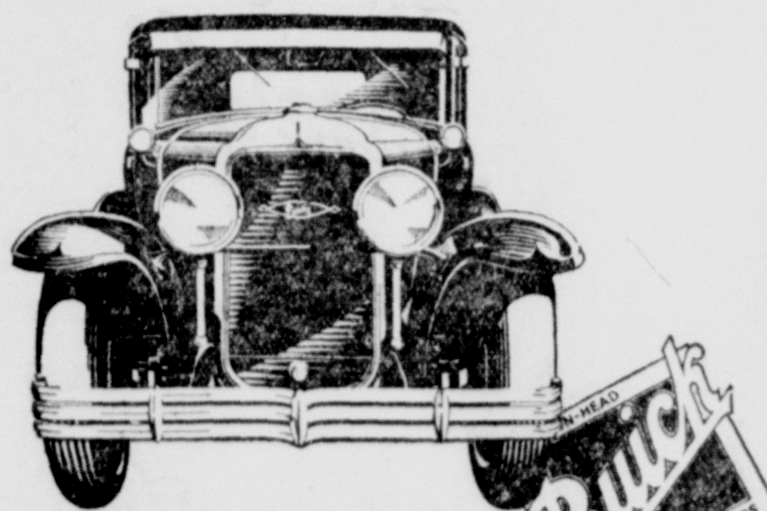

A tribe known as the Bailla tribe, who knock out their front teeth and dress their hair with brass-headed nails has been discovered in a little known district in Northern Rhodesia.

RELIABLE USED CARS

We Tell You The Truth About Our Used Cars

When you buy a used car it's pretty hard to tell its condition just by looking at it.

Our appraisal of every used car is based on our mechanic's knowledge of its actual worth. And when we sell it we will always tell all we know about it.

We want you to be satisfied with the used car you buy here because we want to keep you as a used and new car customer.

It pays, in the long run, to buy a used car from a Buick dealer.

ORDINANCE NO. 287073-C
An ordinance providing for the issuance of notes by the city of Salem in anticipation of the maturity of bonds for the purpose of paying the city's share of the following improvements, to-wit:
Vine Street from the North curb line of McKinley Avenue to the South curb line of East High Street by paving the same; Perry Street from the East curb line of Broadway to the West curb line of Lincoln Avenue by paving the same; Goshen Avenue from Jennings Avenue to North Street by paving the same; and Main Street from the West curb line of Ellsworth Avenue to East line of Garfield and Lincoln Avenue, and Broadway from the South line of Main Street to the South line of Pershing Avenue, by the construction of an ornamental lighting system thereon, together with traffic lights suspension and the fire alarm system, and declaring the necessity of the issuance of bonds for such purpose.

WHEREAS, this Council has requested the city Auditor to issue heretofore as to the estimated life of the improvement to be constructed from the proceeds of the bonds hereinafter referred to and of the notes to be issued in anticipation of said bonds, and the city Auditor has certified to this Council said estimated life as exceeding 25 years, and has further certified the maximum maturity of such bonds as ten years and such notes as two (2) years.

NOW THEREFORE:
Be it ordained by the Council of the city of Salem, State of Ohio:
Sec. 1. That it is necessary to issue the bonds of the city of Salem in the principal sum of $16,391.11 in order to provide a fund for the purchase of the city's share of the following improvements, to-wit:
Vine Street from the North curb line of McKinley Avenue to the South curb line of East High Street by paving the same; Perry Street from the East curb line of Broadway to the West curb line of Lincoln Avenue by paving the same; and Main Street from the West curb line of Ellsworth Avenue to East line of Garfield and Lincoln Avenue, and Broadway from the South line of Main Street to the South line of Pershing Avenue, by the construction of an ornamental lighting system thereon, together with traffic lights suspension and the fire alarm system.

Sec. 2. That said bonds of the city of Salem shall be issued in said principal sum of $16,391.11 for the purpose aforesaid. Said bonds shall be of the denomination of $1,500.00 each except bond No. 1, which shall be of the denomination of $1,891.11, and bonds Nos. 2 and 3, which shall be of the denomination of $2,000.00 each, and shall be dated July 1; shall bear interest at the rate of 5% per annum, payable semi-annually on the first day of April and the first day of October of each year until the principal sum is paid and shall mature in their consecutive serial order as follows:
One bond in its numerical order on October first in each of the years from 1929 to 1935, both inclusive, which maturities are hereby determined to be in substantially equal annual installments.

Sec. 3. That it is necessary and this Council hereby determines that notes shall be issued in anticipation of the issue of said bonds.

Sec. 4. That such anticipatory notes in the amount of $16,391.11, which sum does not exceed 90% of the amount of the bonds issue, shall be subject to the following conditions:

MAYOR WALKER HAS IT ENOUGH FOR FILM STAR

Demonstrates how Before Camera in Screen Test On Hollywood Lot

Hollywood, Aug. 6.—Mayor Jimmy Walker, who dresses well enough to be a movie actor also has "it."

Should the dapper New York burgomaster tire of his chosen profession of politics, he can turn to the art of film acting.

He demonstrated his cinematic capacities here recently when he appeared both in screen and person at the brilliant premiere of "Lilac Time" and almost stole the show from its petite star, Colleen Moore.

The mayor was billed as the guest speaker, but brought a thrill of surprise to the first night audience when he essayed the lead opposite winsome Colleen in an intimate screen skit.

The sparkling subtitles may have been written by a high priced Hollywood title writer but they were so characteristic of the wise-cracking chief citizen of Gotham that the audience was almost confident that Jimmy himself was the author.

Skit With Star
Mayor Walker was a perfect film sophisticate as he sat with Colleen on a sofa and tried to interest her in politics while she tried to vanquish him with all the arts known to a screen siren.

Colleen smiled her most beguiling smile and flashed her languorous eye lashes in approved Cleopatra fashion.

"What's the matter, have you got klieg eyes," her film hero asked, not the least bit annoyed.

The picture was cut undoubtedly by some zealous censor, just when the plot began to thicken.

Called to the stage, Mayor Walker was introduced in person by Master of Ceremonies Conrad Nagel.

His honor was told that the slogan of the modest movie actor was "be yourself."

"If what I have just seen on the screen is myself," the mayor remarked, "whether I have your permission or not, I am going to change it."

"You may say the direction was good," he added. "But I am convinced that mine is best."

Ahead of Time
Viewing with the stars of moviedom, who still seem to get as much of a kick out of attending premieres as the throngs who lined the sidewalks outside Carthay Circle theater to catch a glimpse of the big parade, Mayor Walker scintillated in his sartorial elegance.

Shouts of "there's Jimmy" were lusty. And with all of the kings and queens of movie row observing their time-honored custom of arriving late for the opening, Mayor Walker, for once, was ahead of time.

He was in his seat at 9:15 p. m., exactly 15 minutes before "Lilac Time" started its premiere showing.

Kansas City Girls Have Way To Foil Gas Hawks

Kansas City, Aug. 6.—The auto-sheik, pernicious bug found in abundance in America's one horse towns, and which like the less harmful firefly operates chiefly after dark, has met his match in Kansas City.

The two fair conquerors who have devised a scheme to outwit the "Lizzie Loharics" gladly offered to disclose their find to their persecuted sisters throughout this land of bell bottoms and vaseline pompadours.

Watch the two canny Kansas Cityettes in action—
The scene: Main st in the downtown section.

The time: Midnight.
The characters: Two of those lovely creatures of the type that you can always just muster up enough courage to speak to.

Enter Villains
Enter the first set of villains. They are youthful, yet they are wicked and they are mounted on the front, in fact the only seat, of a dilapidated flivver, which has seen better nights.

First villain in a shrill tenor that has little hope of ever growing into a base—"His thee hence fair ones. Mount with us upon our noble steed and let papa deliver you to your respective domiciles."

First coquette (holding a lily white finger to rosy red lips and expressing as much alarm as a pair of china blue eyes and a round doll face are capable, "Sh-hhh. Everybody'll see us get in here. Drive down to Twenty-fourth and Main and wait for us there."

First set of villains in chorus and to the accompaniment of the grinding gears, "Cheerio—we shall meet you there."

Enter second set of villains, sniffing disdainfully of the exhaust pipe smells left by first set of villains.

They would be laughing up their coat sleeves at the apparent chagrin of their predecessors only the second set of villains do not wear coats. They are older villains, smug villains, regular "villain" villains. They have a big blue racer.

"C'mon girls hop in and we'll take you for a spin."

First coquette (again doing her stuff—"Twenty-fifth and Main—on the northwest corner—it's dark down there and nobody'll see us get in."

Villains Depart
Second set of villains exit with flourish of klaxons.

A street car rumbles up and the two girls enter. At Twenty-fourth and Main two expectant voices treble, "Here we are."

Two icy stares.
At Twenty-fifth and Main—from the shadows of the northwest corner, "Here we are girls."

Two equally frigid looks.
"Really girls," this from an old-ish, fatherly looking man who is sitting in a opposite seat and who has watched the episode from the first, "Really girls—how do you do it."

The stares thaw and there are two giggles of relief. "Well you see, Mr. Gertie and I work down town with late hours and we had an awful time with these steering gear sheiks until we figured out this scheme. On moonlight nights we sometimes have them lined up all the way to Fifth st.

Slow curtain to the soft accompaniment of swearing in the distance.
In a Mexican home the seat of honor.
